

Dear Ms/Sir,

We are conducting a project on inter-cultural trust between Chinese and Western people. You can find further information on our web page: <http://mis.ucd.ie/research/InterCulturalTrust>. You are welcome to participate in this project. As part of our project, to help support the community in University College Dublin, which is comprised of students, researchers, and administrators, who are Chinese and those who are interacting with them, we are carrying out a survey, and would like you to answer some questions. Thank you very much for your response. For query please contact Rong Du, Q225, Quinn School of Business, UCD. Tel: 1-716-4830. Please send answered questionnaire to: Rong.du@ucd.ie.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Cathal Brugha
Director of the project
Quinn School of Business, University College Dublin

Professor Rong Du
Principal Researcher

Please put your answers in the blanks following the questions.

Question1	In general, what most is needed to help the Chinese community (students, researchers, administrators) in University College Dublin achieve greater success during their time in Ireland?
Answer 1
Question2	What in general is the main thing preventing the Chinese community in UCD from achieving more?
Answer 2
Question3	What specific problem is most preventing the Chinese people in UCD from achieving greater success?
Answer 3
Question4	What should be done to increase our understanding of how Chinese in UCD to become more successful?
Answer 4
Question5	What is preventing Chinese community and everyone else in UCD from working better together?
Answer 5
Question6	What organisational or institutional changes might help to make Chinese people more successful in UCD?
Answer 6	